Details

I want a simple desktop application that will rename files automatically in a folder.

It should take a text file as input which will contain new names of the files and then will rename the files of a folder sequentially.

The application should have a GUI. There should have two input option one is for the text file and the other one is for adding the location of the folder.

There should have a button to start the process and the processing status should be shown in a jlist as output.

I want this app to be developed using java or c#

Thanx.
